

'Water edge cafe'<sup>1</sup>

Teacher notes. Different water birds eat different things. Birds have bills or beaks designed for special diets. Their bills have special features or adaptations to find and eat food.

Pupils are given a letter from a new restaurant catering for water birds. They have to watch water birds feeding at a rice field or a lagoon, record what they see, do the 'pond safari' activity and after that construct an appropriate menu.
